Cinco de Mayo at MRSB

We had a fantastic time celebrating Cinco de Mayo at McDowell Rice Smith & Buchanan with a festive potluck luncheon! □□

From savory favorites to sweet treats, the food was absolutely delicious and showcased some incredible culinary talents across the firm—including Val's "definitely not stolen from Chipotle" guacamole recipe.

For fun, the luncheon also featured a Mexican heritage trivia questionnaire, demonstrating everyone's vast knowledge of our neighbor to the south—but more importantly, giving everyone a midday excuse to relax and enjoy each other's company.

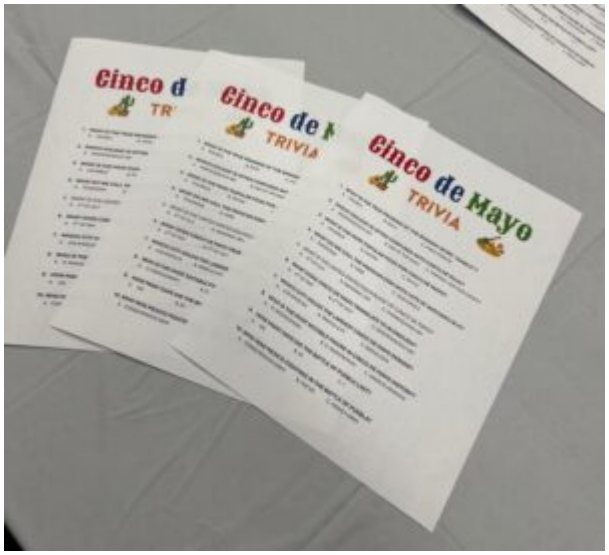

And we can't forget dessert… Sara's homemade sopapillas were a huge hit and the perfect way to top off the celebration!

Thank you to everyone who participated and helped make it such a fun and memorable event. We're already looking forward to the next one!
