Natasha N. Veenis practices exclusively in family law, providing representation in dissolutions of marriage, child custody, child support, paternity, and other complex matters related to divorce and family law. Prior to joining the firm, Natasha worked at a boutique family law firm in Wichita, Kansas where she gained valuable experience handling high net-worth dissolutions of marriage.

Natasha prides herself on compassionately navigating clients through major family changes. She focuses on intentionally providing an individualized approach to each case based on the client's specific needs and goals. She is comfortable trying cases in the courtroom and negotiating them outside of court.

When Natasha is not working, you can find her volunteering in the Kansas City Metropolitan area with her church, going for a run, or cheering on the Oklahoma State Cowboys and Kansas City Chiefs with her husband.
